Hello Dear friends, please enjoy our April edition of The Healer Foundation Newsletter.

APRIL MEETING

The first meeting of 2007 was held at the Holmfield Arms, Wakefield and what a glorious day it was, the sun shone inside and out. I have never been to the hotel prior to this meeting, which boasted beautiful grounds, excellent conference facilities and a fabulous menu which I sampled and I wasn't disappointed! A big thank you to all our friends that were able to attend the meeting, it is good to see old faces along with the new. The topic for the meeting was Spirit Guides and Ros Coleman delivered her personal journey into the world of spirit artistry to a captive audience wonderfully. Ros is a gifted artist and she has produced some exceptional works of art that we were able to see both from the earthly realm and beyond. Ros is a psychic artist and healer who channels pictures and information from spirit guides for clients. She is an experienced tutor and presenter who regularly gives talks and demonstrations and delivers workshops nationally, you can contact Ros on 01925 757886 or obtain further details on her website www.roscoleman.com Ros will be presenting a Healer Foundation workshop on Spirit Guides in November which gives delegates an understanding of the accessibility of gaining help from our own spirit guides, how to identify them and when to ask for their assistance. Further details are available on the Healer Foundation website or by contacting Rena directly.

EDUCATION PROGRAMME/WORKSHOPS

Our principal Rena, has given a public thank you to Chris Wade for his excellent workshop 'The work and philosophies of Louise Hay'. With healing, spirituality and perception, Chris brought the philosophies into an interesting, invigorating and fulfilling day. This day will be repeated in the future and Chris's other workshop details can be found on the website.

The next workshop is being held on 25th April at the Holmfield Arms, Wakefield 11am - 4.30pm Profitable Business Skills + Ethics and Ceremony. Clare Walsh will present all that you need to know to cost-effectively and legally manage the business side of your practice. Sue Naylor will help you to understand ethical responsibilities in complementary practice and will clarify and expand on the value and role of formal procedure and ceremony in holistic therapy. Fees: £65 HF Members 10% discount

Healing with Numerology

Start date for the module is the 22 May 2007

The Healing Technique taught at the Healer Foundation and forming the core part of the Diploma in Healing will now include Numerology.

The developments are based on Rena's work and she will be the prime tutor. The modality may be taken individually and applications are invited from:

- Practitioners and health professionals who wish to add this modality to their skills
- Diploma in Healing applicants
- Non-practitioners who wish to gain skills and experience for personal use

Ongoing opportunities for teaching the technique will be put in place and developed for selected students who show dedication and promise.

Please note that Jenny will continue to support, work with and develop the Foundation's Healing Technique bringing in her own developments and practices.

Full details and dates are available from Rena at rena.g@virgin.net 01484 664069

THE HEALER FOUNDATION WEBSITE

The Healer Foundation website statistics have given us an in-depth analysis of the number of visitors and their interests. Roger Hocking has kindly given us a briefing and although we wouldn't want to bog you down with the technical data we have submitted some of his data for your information.

Since the meter went live on the new site in June, we have had 6650 visitors who account for some 20,000 page views. In May, with the old site, we got just 50 visitors; June 270; July 500; August 700; December is always a poor month. January dropped as we did more work on the site and the benefits of the new pages (therapy definitions etc) are now there to see with the monthly totals nudging 860 in February and 980 in March.

So where do the visitors come from? I've totalled the last 100 to get the percentages by source:

- direct (= members and others logging straight onto the site) 20%
- Google 56%
- other search engines (mainly AOL, Yahoo and MSN 19%
- links from other sites (eg www.icmf.co.uk) 5%
- So 75% of the visitors are brought by search engines offering internet users suggested answers to their searches.
- These are all people who found the site on the internet and then logged on to look at pages of the site

Looking at the statistics in more detail, Google has now picked up and recorded the expanded workshops and courses page and is presenting this to internet users when they search for various courses and workshops. This seems to account for much of the latest surge in numbers. Most people now search with two or more search terms and there is a growing realisation that including the location will bring more relevant information.

The practitioner web pages attached to the web site have this information (therapies, names and location) built into their coding and so they work particularly well with search engines (especially Google) - which is why Jenny Howes seems to get one or two new clients each month from her page.

Any comments or feedback to Denise on 01924 386860 or aromaden@yahoo.co.uk

WEB PAGE FOR THERAPISTS

Twelve therapists now have their own pages attached to the site and four others have pages in preparation. With the above statistics showing increasing activity month on month it is a very lucrative way to advertise your workshops and courses. Information and details regarding personal web pages for therapists can be obtained from our website <http://www.healerfound.co.uk/webpage.htm> or you may contact Roger Hocking (Web Designer) directly on 01937 845 557 or greendrift@ntlworld.com
